Northrop Grumman Information Systems is a leading global provider of advanced solutions that deliver timely, enabling information where it's needed most for its military, intelligence, civilian, state and local, and commercial customers. We are a $8.4 billion business employing more than 21,000 employees with offices in 50 states and 25 countries. Our company has been an innovation leader throughout its history. Today, the impact of our technologies is felt everywhere. They safeguard national security and protect our ! citizens. They predict the weather in time to act. They supply common operating environments for military commanders and coalition partners. And they give government agencies the web-based tools to serve their constituents more responsively and for less cost. To maintain our technology leadership, we employ many of the best minds in science and engineering - and support them with state-of-the-art research facilities and laboratories. Add to this our long history of experience on pioneering information, systems engineering, and networking programs. Together, these resources make Northrop Grumman one of the world's great technology engines.
