

Jason Carter Biography

Jason graduated from University of Missouri-Rolla (now Missouri University of Science & Technology) in 1990 with a Bachelors of Science degree in Metallurgical Engineering. He enlisted in the United States Navy Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate program while at UMR and was commissioned as an Ensign at Officer Candidate School immediately following graduation in April 1991.

Following a 20 year career in which he earned two masters' degrees and sailed on five deployments on submarines and aircraft carriers, Jason retired from the Navy and spent 16 months with Gannett Fleming, Inc., a multi-disciplined engineering firm headquartered in Camp Hill, PA.

Jason left Gannett Fleming, Inc. to form Aegis Strategies, LLC, which serves clients in the Scott AFB, IL area, where Jason concluded his military career at United States Transportation Command (USTRANSCOM). He provides information portfolio management expertise to Team IBM on the Distribution Portfolio Management effort, where he assists the government in transitioning a $500M+ annual budget from a system-centric to capability-focused portfolio.

Aegis Strategies Corporate Summary

Aegis is a consultancy firm specializing in the delivery of service solutions in the domains of global logistics, transportation, and supply chain management. Aegis assists its clients in designing and implementing long-term strategies to achieve effective and efficient performance. Aegis is headquartered in the Scott AFB region and provides expertise, operational experience, communication skill sets, and enterprise perspective to develop operational and organizational-level strategic guidance and associated change management practices.